

VR13 Core Tray Photos

The image displays a sediment core log with five sections. The sections are labeled with numbers 302, 303, 304, 305, and 306. The core is housed in a metal container with a wooden base. The sediment is dark grey and shows various textures and structures, including some lighter-colored layers and cracks. A 'START' arrow is visible on the left side of the log.
